Dear Sir,

Thanks a million for the grand sweater I just received. You'll never know just how useful it's going to be to me. We have just finished a move, and our mail was delayed for some time, which probably accounts for the time it took for the package to get here. It was postmarked around the first of December. But our Christmas packages are still coming through, so I feel lucky that it arrived when it did. I understand you've been having some pretty rough weather in Providence. Here's hoping it's cleared up a little by the time you receive this little note. Thanks again for your gift. It's wonderful!
